IBA, PPI and Pravida will design and build the next generation vaults for the three Proteus ONE units ordered in 2015.

Louvain-La-Neuve, Belgium, February 19, 2016 – IBA, Proton Partners International (PPI) and Pravida Bau GmbH®, are pleased to announce their collaboration in design and building the next generation vault for the three Proteus®ONE units ordered in 2015 in the United Kingdom.

The companies plan to combine Proteus®ONE, the most advanced compact equipment In Proton Therapy, with the patented Forster – Sandwich – Construction ® exclusively installed by Pravida Bau GmbH®, This particular technological approach offers several benefits including a reduction in installation time and a reduction of the environmental footprint as well as a cleaner and safer decommissioning process.

Mike Moran, Chief Executive Officer of Proton Partners International Limited commented. "We are delighted to work together with IBA and Pravida, two world leaders in their field. We are excited about this new technology which will permit faster delivery of the first high energy Proton Beam Therapy Centers to be installed in the UK."

Otto Pravida, Chief Executive Officer of Pravida Bau GmbH® added, "It is only right that Outo Fravius, their executive United or Fravius had union? acued, it is only right that the building is constructed using only the most sustainable techniques. This means that the best therapy in cancer treatment is combined with the latest industry standards of radiation protection and safety. We are delighted that Pravida has been chosen by PPI to bring the patented solutions to the United Kingdom. We hope to continue to develop our partnership with IBA in the future."

Olivier Legrain, Chief Executive Officer concluded, "At the core of IBAs strategy lies the determination to work with our customers to construct innovative solutions that reduce the total cost of Proton Therapy. At the same time we are mindful of our duty as citizens of the world to minimize the environmental impact of our activities.
